Come join us in St. Louis

Just over two months remain until this year's Missouri Press Association Annual Convention and Trade Show, and with it being an election year, there will be a lot you will not want to miss.

MPA will hold its 152nd Convention and Trade Show Sept. 13-15, at the Sheraton Westport Chalet Hotel in St. Louis.

Foremost on the agenda this year are the candidate forums for U.S. Senate and Missouri State Auditor, both highly contested races.

While the candidate forums will headline Friday afternoon's activities, there is a lot more happening throughout the day. Following breakfast, Ken Paulson will kick things off with a presentation on the hidden history of the First Amendment.

Paulson is dean of the College of Media and Entertainment at Middle Tennessee State University and president of the First Amendment Center.

For lunch, attendees will be treated to a presentation from Gina Barreca a syndicated columnist whose work has appeared in a variety of major publications.

Friday night will feature MPA's Hall of Fame reception during which four newspapermen will join the ranks of some of the greatest names in the industry. Those being inducted this year include Wendell Redden, Kent Ford, Joe May and Jim Robertson.

Saturday, Sept. 15, will begin with a breakfast general session featuring Norm Frain, sales development director of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. A general session with Jon Rust will follow.

Just before lunch, Andy Ostmeyer of the Joplin Globe will present "Stories of the Wild" about covering Missouri's great outdoors by focusing on resources and interacting with readers.

The Convention will end with the 2018 Better Newspaper Contest Luncheon, scheduled to begin at 11:30 a.m.

To register for the Convention, fill out the form on Page 2 of this month's Bulletin and return it to Missouri Press.
